Excerpt: . . . LETTER X. ON THE MANNER AND COURSE OF READING HISTORY. MY DEAR NIECE, When I recommend to you to gain some insight into the general history of the worlds perhaps you will think I propose a formidable task; but, your apprehensions will vanish, when you consider that of near half the globe we have no histories at all;-- that, of other parts of it, a few facts only are known to us--and that, even of those nations, which make the greatest figure in history, the early ages are involved in obscurity and fable: it is not indeed allowable to be totally ignorant even of those fables, because they are the frequent subjects of poetry and painting, and are often referred to in more authentic histories. The first recorders of actions are generally poets: in the historical songs of the bards are found the only accounts...
